Pre-Bicentennial Genealogy Programs On Tap This Fall During Family History Month

Get your family history up-to-date for the Indiana and Jackson County 2016 Bicentennial! Northern Indiana native Dr. Michael Lacopo has been much in demand, lecturing at Federation of Genealogical Societies and National Genealogical Society national conferences and is passionate about genealogical research.

- The two topics being presented on October 10 are Finding Treasures in the Hoosier Courthouse: Dig Deeper to Find Your Ancestors and More Than the Census: Our Families Did Exist Between Those Ten-Year Intervals!
- Get ready for Dr. Lacopo's programs in Genealogy for Beginners on September 27, where Information Services Assistant Janet Hensen will teach how to begin family tree research.
- The week following Dr. Lacopo's programs, Jackson County genealogist Charlotte Sellers will give a records tour of the Jackson County Courthouse.

Many people enjoyed his previous lectures last year in Seymour, and spots in the audience for two more fall programs will go fast! Sign up for any Jackson County Public Library program by going to <http://myjclibrary.org/events> online.
